Mr. Carlucci said that because of the possibility that the new Senate might not be able to consider intelligence business until early spring--because of so many new Senators--[ ] should consider ways to construct a Continuing Resolution so that it could be passed now. Mr. Carlucci said that we should ensure that the slots which were authorized in the Appropriations Bill are protected and that we may want to approach the Reagan people at the same time we approach the Administration and request an exemption from the hiring freeze. He asked [ ] and Lipton to work this problem. [ ]

Lehman commented on his trip:

--He was impressed by the way South Korean Prime Minister Chun was moving to consolidate his power. The judgment of the U.S. Mission in Seoul is that he is getting younger and better people in key positions. There is a tremendous amount of pressure being exerted on Chun by his supporters to execute the assassin of President Pak.

--In Southeast Asia there is an unbelievable obsession with Soviet involvement in Vietnam. The leaders in the area are looking for a way to get a compromise on Kampuchea which would ease the Vietnam/PRC relationship and allow the Vietnamese to play off the PRC against the Soviets thus relieving pressure on ASEAN. Stein reported that French crews piloted the helicopters which transported Senagalese troops into The Gambia; the first time a West European country has done this in Africa. [ ]

Fitzwater said that the Agency has reached 62 percent of its goal in the CFC and the deadline, which is 7 November, cannot be extended. The Agency will not be allowed to send letters to employees soliciting more contributions although pledge cards will still be accepted after the deadline. Mr. Carlucci said it would be a shame if the Agency didn't live up to past performance. [ ]

Silver reported that John Warner had given him a draft executive order prepared by Danny Graham for the transition team which recommended the removal of NFAC from CIA. Lehman said that we have to make our position clear to the transition team as soon as possible. Mr. Carlucci said he would consider talking to George Bush and express our opposition to the draft. [ ] said we also have to be on the alert for changes recommended in the DCI's relationship with the military. [ ]
